PERIOD OF THIS REPORT

This report covers the period from November 2017 to December 2018 in line with the Society's new accounting reference date. In the interests of keeping the information enclosed as current as possible, information about the period from January to June 2019 is also included, where relevant.

THE PURPOSE OF STAR

The Society of Ticket Agents and Retailers, or STAR, was formed in November 1997 by a number of companies and organisations within the ticketing industry to promote high standards of service to consumers and to enhance and promote the public perception of the ticket agents' industry.

The membership of STAR is drawn from the ticketing industry. The administrative functions are carried out by the Council which, together with the Chair of the Council, is elected biennially by the membership of STAR. Day-to-day functions are carried out by the Secretariat, which provides information and advice in relation to STAR and the operation of its Code of Practice. A sub-committee examines all breaches of the Code reported to it and disciplines members where it considers such action necessary, action that potentially includes expulsion from STAR in the most serious cases. Appeals in relation to the sub-committee's decisions are heard by the Council. The membership of this sub-committee is drawn from members of the Council and independent persons, the latter always being in the majority and providing the Chair. Any Council member with a business interest in a case being considered by the sub-committee is not eligible to vote on any matter concerning such a case at a meeting at which it is considered.

STAR is funded by annual contributions from its membership.

Membership of STAR can be recognised by the use of our registered trademark, found on the cover to this report.

THE CHAIRMAN'S STATEMENT

I was really pleased to reconnect with STAR last July after a break of over seventeen years and even more pleased to take over from Adrian Sanders as Chairman. Although, professionally, those intervening years took me in different directions, ticketing is in my core and it's been great to be able to get back to the heart of the industry.

When I spoke at the 2018 AGM, I outlined a number of areas that I saw as opportunities for STAR. I was particularly keen to see the breadth and number of memberships grow, saying that a challenge for STAR is to be the voice of ticketing. I'm therefore very pleased to report that membership has grown, with some significant companies coming on board over the past year. It's great to have very old friends, like the Edinburgh Tattoo, as members alongside others such as the Edinburgh Fringe and HQ Theatres. The extensive list on the inside cover of this report grows longer each year and I welcome all our new members Significantly, STAR has extended its reach into sports in the past few months, with the FA, RFU and now England Netball joining. We all share a commitment to high standards of customer service and information, as well as a wish to provide clear information about authorised ticket sellers for events. We are continuing our drive to increase membership and are actively and positively discussing this with a broad range of companies and organisations involved in ticketing. Aside from all the well-worn debates about secondary ticketing, it is clear that customers always take greater risks by stepping outside authorised sources. With that in mind, we have just undertaken an extensive and successful awareness campaign with Action Fraud, to help highlight those risks to consumers and to encourage them to buy from STAR members wherever possible. Or, at least, to take greater care before parting with their money. Many thanks to all those members that supported this campaign, helping us to reach millions of ticket buyers.

Another key objective for me was to continue STAR's existing work on accessible ticketing and to find ways of pushing on this even harder. The need for improvement and the options for how to achieve that are clear. It has proved to be an area that some companies struggle with, or at least make progress a little slower than I had hoped. However, there are some great examples of good practice out there and the solutions exist. I look forward to making further strides on this in the next year.

A variety of pressures, including enforcement of legislation, has brought about some significant changes in the secondary ticket market. One important outcome of this has been the increase in primary ticketing companies offering good resale services for customers that find they can no longer attend events. The Competition and Markets Authority has been clear in its advice that restrictions on resale need to be tempered with opportunities for customers to have access to resale, refund or exchange facilities if they find they are unable to use tickets they have bought.

Following Viagogo's absence for the second time at an evidence session of the Digital, Culture, Media and Sport Select Committee last September, we joined forces with FanFair Alliance and Sharon Hodgson MP on an open letter to Google regarding their acceptance of paid advertising from the company, asking them to reconsider this position because of the resulting consumer confusion. STAR led on that initiative and we were pleased to bring in many other organisations to support it as counter-signatories.

I've been keen to find ways of providing additional benefits to STAR members. We already have the great apprenticeship scheme pioneered by Will Quekett and now being used by a number of members including the RSC and The Ticket Factory. I was pleased to add to this by negotiating fully-funded in-house training for existing employees of STAR members through TLC. This is a great way of providing training for your staff, so do get in touch for more details if you are interested.

We were able to add another important STAR event to the calendar last autumn, with a specialist, technical, seminar on cyber-security, hosted and delivered by the National Cyber Security Centre, a division of GCHQ. We know there is an understandably high level of interest in both the topic and this seminar in particular, so will be looking to repeat this later in 2019.

A really important element of STAR's work is our status as an official provider for Alternative Dispute Resolution. As membership increases, so does the number of disputes that are referred to the office in York. We have therefore taken on an additional member of staff, Helen Chambers, to work with Megan Conman on this extensive area of STAR's operations. On behalf of the membership and its customers, I would like to extend my thanks to the two of them for handling disputes, some of which can be very difficult, with such care, professionalism and good humour.

It's been an exciting and busy first year and I'm looking forward to the next year being even better. We have so many more opportunities to build on our strength and support and to provide additional benefits for our members.

I am very grateful to our Chief Executive, Jonathan Brown, and my colleagues on the STAR Council who provide their time and expertise to help further the work and growth of STAR. Thanks also to all those standing for election or re-election. We have representation from a remarkable cross-section of the industry with much to discuss and debate. Our meetings are never dull!

THE WORK OF STAR

THE STAR WEBSITE RECEIVES AROUND 255 VISITORS A DAY

DISPUTES

New or unresolved disputes are referred to STAR, either by the member or the customer involved. Conciliation then takes place through the STAR office in an effort to reach a satisfactory resolution. In the event of a dispute not being resolved through this process, complaints may be referred to an independent disciplinary sub-committee to resolve the issue and, if necessary, to issue penalties if a member is found to have breached the Code of Practice. These penalties include fines, suspension of membership and, ultimately, expulsion from STAR.

In addition, The Society of Ticket Agents and Retailers is approved by Government under the Alternative Dispute Resolution for Consumer Disputes (Competent Authorities and Information) Regulations 2015. Some disputes are therefore submitted to STAR under ADR and are dealt with in line with our approved ADR procedure which can be found at: www.star.org.uk/alternative-dispute-resolution/

In the twelve months ended 31 December 2018, STAR received 1,079 (1,119 in year to 31 October 2017) contacts regarding disputes, the majority of which were resolved immediately by the member concerned. The highest level of complaints focused on delivery issues (15%), refund and exchange policies (15%), booking fees (7%) and seating (7%). It was not necessary for any complaints to be referred to the disciplinary sub-committee during the year. The number of complaints referred to STAR will often depend on how individual member companies use STAR effectively in their dispute resolution procedure. The majority of members resolve disputes directly with customers before they ever need to be referred to STAR.

EXAMPLES OF COMPLAINTS

-  A customer purchased tickets to see what he thought was an original band, but was in fact a tribute act. He felt that the name was misleading, as it was very similar to a band he wanted to see and that the 'tribute act' aspect had not been made clear. STAR looked into this but found that sufficient information, both visual and text, was available at all stages of the booking process and agreed with the STAR member that a refund was not due.
-  An event was rescheduled and the customer wished to cancel one of her tickets, as a member of the party could not attend the new date. She was advised by the ticket seller that the deadline for refunds had passed and the request was refused. STAR raised the issue with the ticket seller who then agreed that, as long as the ticket was returned in advance of the event date, the ticket could be refunded. This was accepted by the customer.
-  When attending an event, a customer experienced a restricted view. She sought assistance from staff during the event but was advised to stay in the seats purchased and no resolution was offered at the time by the venue or event organiser. This issue was compounded by other customers receiving 'free upgrades'. The customer contacted the event organiser after the event to complain and was dissatisfied with their response and explanation. STAR raised the issue with both the organiser and the ticket agent, resulting in complimentary tickets being offered and accepted by the customer.

-  A customer purchased tickets for an event and, upon printing his tickets, realised that the venue and date were incorrect. He believed that this was due to a website and booking system error. Unfortunately, the customer had only contacted the ticket seller on the day of the event. This was too late to offer assistance and the customer was not satisfied with the explanation given by the ticket seller. When the dispute was referred, STAR acquired information from both parties to assess and explain how the situation may have occurred and was able to establish that there had definitely not been a website error. If the booking confirmation had been checked by the customer earlier, the ticket seller may have had the opportunity to correct the error. The customer was grateful for the investigation and explanation and accepted his own error, commenting that this would help him avoid a similar situation in the future.
